

THE TRAINER

Jill Pennock has been involved in the field of canine care and training since 1972. Jill has trained and competed in Obedience, Working Trials and Schutzhund competitions in addition to working and training gun dogs. As well as being a dedicated kennel operator, Jill is a fully qualified dog training instructor who has been instructing independent training classes since 1975, running classes in a paddock at the kennels.

Jill specialises in the training of dogs with behavioural problems, for example, aggression, hyperactivity, nervousness, attention seeking, food and kennel guarding, separation anxiety and many others. The individual nature of this type of training would usually require private lessons on a one to one basis.

Jill trains and is an accredited examiner for The Kennel Club Good Citizen Scheme and still has considerable success in taking dogs and their owners through from their Puppy Assessment to their Gold Award.

THE TRAINING

All training, whether individual or group starts with an Assessment Lesson.

This lasts for approximately one hour and during this time Jill will speak with you about basic canine requirements, the dog's home environment (eating and sleeping arrangements, exercise, etc.) and discuss any concerns you may have with your dogs behaviour. At the end of this session an action plan will be made for ongoing training.

Depending on your dog's individual requirements further training usually falls in to two categories:

Individual private lessons to accommodate the dog and handlers specific requirements booked through the week at a mutually convenient time.

OR

Group lessons which are held weekly on Saturday mornings from 9.00am in the training paddock.

These lessons cover general training and include some fun agility and flyball.
